

Chamber Adopts New Budget Endorses Ambitious Program

Randall County Exhibitors Make Good Showing At Fair

Randall County exhibitors at the Amarillo Tri-State Fair brought home their share of the awards. Entries were made in the agricultural and horticultural classes, in the swine show, horse shows, wheat shows, baking shows, dairy department and others.

Joe Hales and son of Rt. 1, Canyon entered a fine herd of registered Holstein dairy cattle and brought home many ribbons.

Red Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. J.O. Parker of Canyon entered steers in the commercial steer show and won a blue ribbon award for a prime steer and a red ribbon for a choice steer.

Linda Kay Metcalf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Metcalf represented Randall County in the 4-H Better Baking show and won third place in the district which covers the Texas Panhandle Counties.

Vincent Meyer of Umbarger placed in the top ten in the 4-H boys wheat show.

The Canyon FFA Chapter had an excellent educational exhibit. Prize crops from Randall County were shown on the Randall County booth during the fair.

Horses from Randall County were entered in the halter classes and performance classes. Orville Hicks, L.S. Johnston, Jack Walker, and Dale Martin were some of the winners.

The swine sale from the Testing Station at West Texas State College was the highlight of the Thursday night program. Nineteen boars from the station sold at the sale there and averaged $117.76 each.

City May Adopt Planned Growth Pattern in Future

Tentative proposal for a planned 20-year growth of Canyon will be submitted to the city planning commission in the near future due to action taken at a Monday evening meeting of the city commissioners.

Planning commission members met with city heads and Marvin Springer of Dallas to discuss a possible plan for Canyon. Springer told the group there are two ways the city can undertake such a project.

First is under a method known as the "701 plan" in which the federal government pays 66 and two-thirds per cent of the cost. Or, if a community decides to do so, it may foot the entire bill, Springer said.

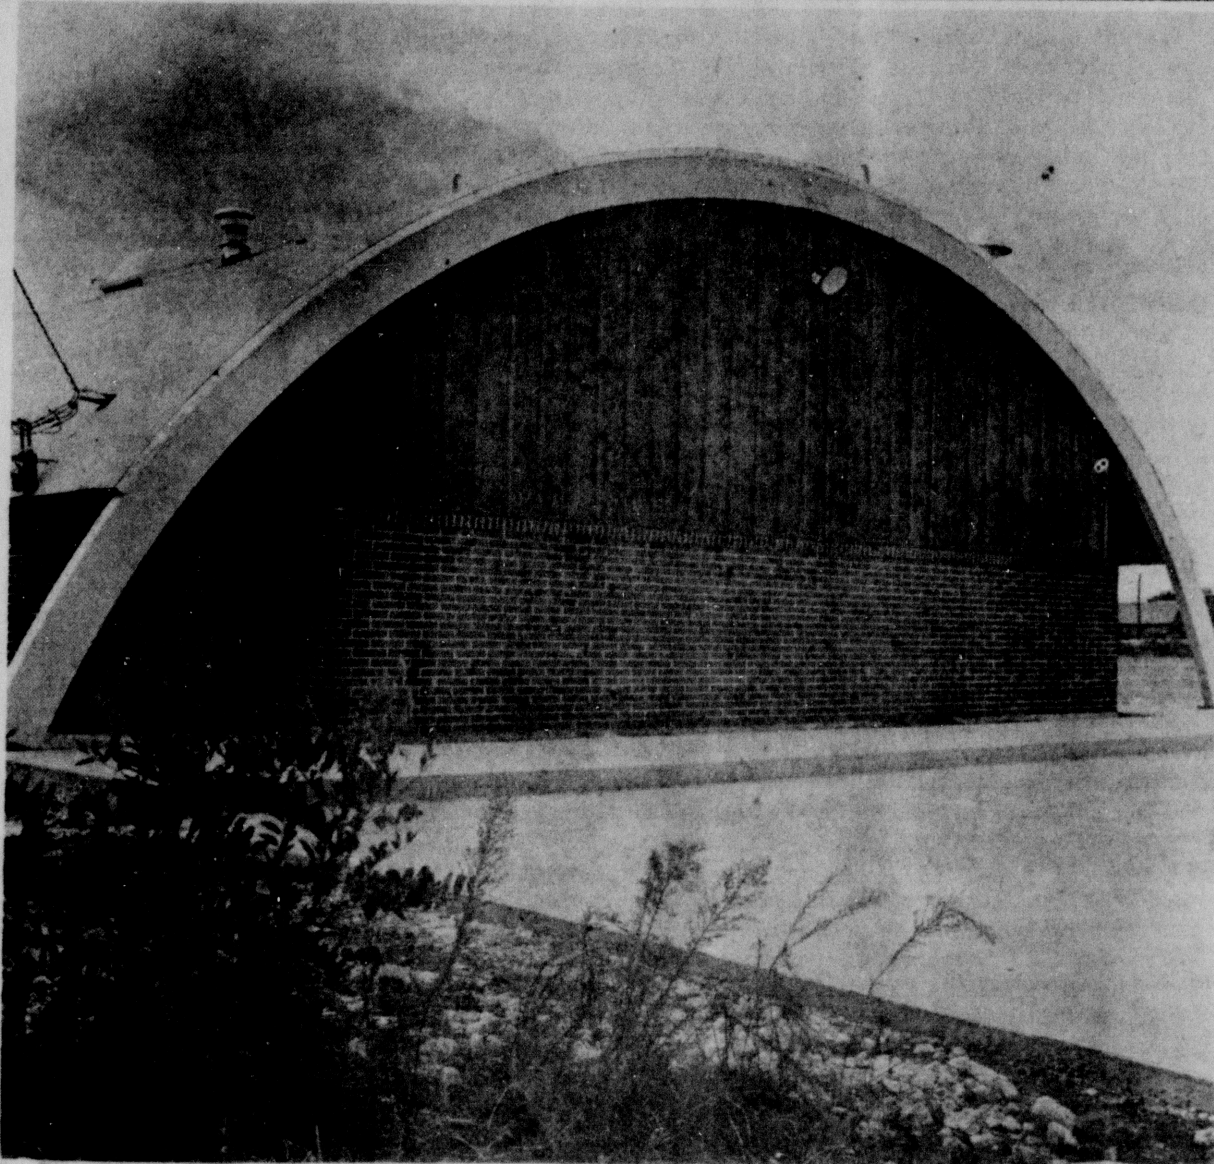

The 701 plan involves a lot of red tape and details which many times do not play an important part in overall city planning, Springer pointed out. He said that a plan supported by the city, not involving government specifications would be more economical.

O.P. Cowart of the planning commission asked Springer the probable cost of such a plan. "It would be about $6,000 to $8,000," he replied. "If you decide on the 701 plan it would cost approximately $12,000."

Springer said he does not recommend federal aid for such an undertaking.

The planning commission voted to recommend that the city undertake a basic study without federal aid and price of the project be submitted in writing.

Once the growth plan is drawn up it will have to be reviewed (Continued on page 11)

NEW LIVESTOCK SHOW BARN will be shown to the public Sunday from 1:30 p.m. until 6. Located at 17th Street and 2nd Avenue, the building will house the coming Randall County Junior Fat Stock Show. Refreshments will be served at the open house.

Livestock Building Tours Set for Sunday Afternoon

Open house at the Randall County Junior Livestock Association show barn has been set Sunday from 1:30 to 6 p.m., according to executive directors of the association.

Completed only days ago, this will be the first time the general public will have a chance to tour the facilities.

Built specifically to serve the livestock shows held here each January, the barn will also double as a meeting hall for clubs and various other groups.

The all-purpose room, 42 x 60, houses many modern facilities not often found in a show barn, members of the association point out.

Rest rooms, a snack bar and sound system room are along the east wall of the all-purpose room. Interior is of brick, mahogany plywood and exposed beams. Fully insulated, the room is equipped with two circulating heaters.

The back room, 42 x 75, is constructed to stall show animals. Portable panels will be moved in during shows making the pens. The floor in the back room is of hard-packed caliche.

Members of the association will be present to explain the building's many outstanding features.

Building came a reality only through efforts of a special building fund committee headed by Bill Wilson.

They started to work after this year's show with no money in the treasury and raised over $12,500.00. Once construction began on the $20,000 building, the property was deeded to Randall County and the county paid the remaining balance.

It was leased back to the association, with the association financing maintenance and operation.

The building was built by Sims Structures, Inc. of Amarillo.

Cornette Gives Progress Report to Visitors

Progress and hints of progress to come at West Texas State College highlighted a speech Saturday by Dr. James P. Cornette before a group of Plains mayors and civic leaders.

The gathering was sponsored by Canyon Chamber of Commerce and was attended by more than 100 persons from across the area served by West Texas State.

Dr. Cornette spoke of the past declaring that there was not an accredited high school in the Panhandle when West Texas State was founded some 51 years ago. Now there is not a youngster in the Panhandle who does not have an opportunity to attend an accredited high school, he said.

He pointed with pride to the fact that adults of Randall county have an average of 13.7 years of formal education.

He pegged the value of West Texas State's physical plant at between $12 and $15 million and indicated that more building can be expected in the future to serve the area's growing needs. He noted that class room buildings probably one day will fill the site of the old college football stadium.

He said it was necessary to build a new stadium if for no other reason than to make way for expansion of the school plant. He pointed out that the old stadium site was the only available real estate upon which class room buildings could be built near enough to the present campus to permit students to walk from class to class.

Dr. Cornette said there was just a trail with six gates to be opened between Amarillo and Canyon when West Texas State was founded. Now the road between the two towns is a main street, an E-way that makes them one community, he declared.

Mayor Delbert Lowes gave the welcoming address. Joe Gidden, Chamber of Commerce president, was master of ceremonies and host for the occasion.

The visitors were escorted on a tour of the campus by representatives from the college faculty, the student body and the Chamber of Commerce.

They were guests at an evening meal and then attended the football game that night.

J.L. Gilmore Services Held Monday Afternoon

A mighty warrior in the battle for the minds of men has fallen.

Death Sunday claimed Joseph Lee Gilmore, great educator, Texan, American.

Gilmore had devoted more than a half century of his life to teaching. He had taught mathematics at West Texas State College. He came here in 1943 from Wheeler where he had been superintendent of schools. He suffered a heart attack in 1957 but recovered and resumed teaching. He was again stricken while helping in student registration at the college about two weeks ago.

He died at 3:20 o'clock Sunday morning at Neblett Hospital in Canyon. His family home is at 1904 Ninth Avenue.

Lee Gilmore was a quiet man, modest and unassuming. His love for learning made him a teacher. His love for people made him a great teacher.

"Outstanding things about Lee Gilmore were his modesty and his integrity," declared Dr. J.A. Hill, former president of West Texas State College. "He never pretended to be anything he wasn't. His ideas of honor and honesty were as clear cut as those of anyone I ever knew. He was loyal to his friends, to what he believed and to the institution for which he worked."

Gilmore was 68 years old. He was born Nov. 7, 1892 at Hays. He was married to Miss Nora Edna Cowart, August 18, 1915 at Silverton.

He was the son of a country doctor and got his early education in rustic one-room school houses of the day. He began teaching at Turkey at the age of 17 and followed the profession until the time of his death.

He was a member of the Methodist Church, the Masonic Lodge and was active in the Lions Club until his health failed. He was a past president of the West Texas State College Ex-Students' Association.

Services were held Monday afternoon in Canyon First Methodist Church with Rev. Newton Starnes, pastor, officiating. He was assisted by Rev. Hubert Thomson, pastor of Abilene First Methodist Church.

Burial was in Dreamland Cemetery under direction of LaGrone Funeral Home. Pallbearers were Dr. H. L. Cook, Cecil Briggs, D.E. Lasher, F. A. Moseley, Wilford Taylor, Jr., Dr. Emmett Hazlewood, A. W. Lair and Eulen

JOSEPH LEE GILMORE

Whitten. Honorary pallbearers were members of the West Texas State College Mathematics Department.

Survivors include the wife, a daughter, Mrs. Jack Taylor of Canyon; a son, Dr. E. H. Gilmore of Lubbock; two brothers, W.C. Gilmore of Slaton and F. C. Gilmore of Turkey; a sister, Miss Pauline Gilmore of Carrizozo, New Mexico; and five grandchildren.

Bangs Control Program Making Progress Here

Cattle owners of Randall County are making slow but steady progress toward bringing the state brucellosis control program here.

Billy Bible, chairman of this dairyman and beef cattle producer group, together with the Randall County Farm Bureau leaders are convinced that the best interest of county livestock producers can best be served by complete eradication of this disease.

The Texas brucellosis program was written and sponsored by livestock producers. It is brought into a county only by producer request and petition. It is designed to find and eradicate bang's cattle and to insure against reintroducing the disease into the county.

The petition now being circulated is of the type II class. It is designed to eradicate brucellosis while allowing clean cattle and steers, sprayed heifers, and officially vaccinated heifers free movement. A mandatory vaccination program is not called for in the type II program.

Cattle found to be infected with this disease will be required to be sent to slaughter. The producer can market these cattle at a slaughter plant maintaining an inspection service. The carcass value is not lowered and the meat is edible. While no indemnity is paid for cattle sent to slaughter most producers agree that keeping a bang's animal in the herd is risky business.

The test work in the counties is done with no charge to the producer. Many counties the Texas Panhandle and particularly in the trans-Pecos area are now certified. Livestock producers in certified counties have freedom to move cattle into any county and into any area in other states.

Bible says that local producers of cattle should first become thoroughly familiar with the provisions of this program. Some misinformation is bound to be picked up.

Ruthart Gets First Grain

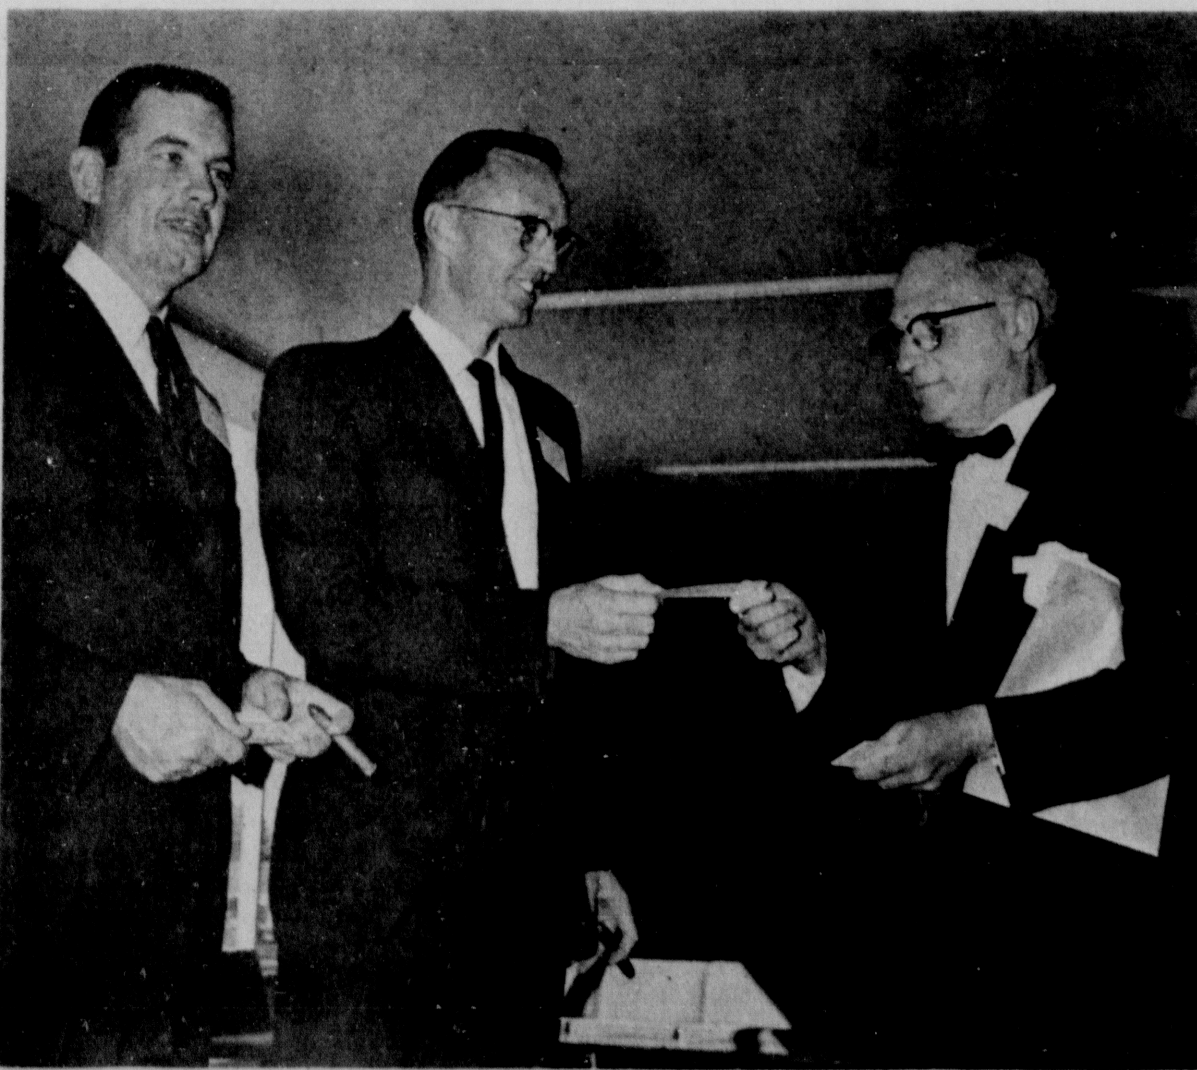

Ralph Ruthart last week brought in the first load of milo of the season to Consumers Fuel Association & Elevator, according to Arnold Prichard, manager.

The load was cut from three acres on the Ruthart place west of Canyon and weighed in at 14,880 pounds. It tested very damp, 18.89.

Letter Carriers Meet Saturday

Letter carriers from throughout Texas will gather at the West Texas State College cafeteria Saturday at 7 p.m. to hear J. Standley Lewis of Washington, D.C.

Lewis will explain the NALC Health Insurance program. Hampton Lisle will serve as master of ceremonies.

PANHANDLE CIVIC LEADERS gathered on the West Texas State College Saturday for a tour of facilities and then that night, the game with Brigham Young University. Above, Major James, mayor of Olton, and Percy Parson, president of Olton Chamber of Commerce, receive tickets to the game from Dr. Claude Boatman of the college faculty.

Young people of the Panhandle lost a dear friend Sunday with the passing of Lee Gilmore. I never knew Mr. Gilmore intimately, only by reputation.

As a child at Turkey I remember hearing my dad talk about the fine schoolman in charge of the Turkey schools where my older brothers attended classes. He was a young man named Lee Gilmore.

Through the years I remember my dad weighing school people of our acquaintance in the balance. I don't think he ever met a schoolman to measure up to the yardstick of the schoolmaster at Turkey in those bygone years.

Lee Gilmore was a member of a family close to the hearts of the people at Turkey. His dad was a doctor there. For years Gilmores delivered, doctor and taught.

Canyon and the Panhandle mourns the passing of this fine member of a fine family.

We have been informed in a round about way during the past few days that the administration is ready to back up on the Berlin question.

We have been used in a disgraceful manner in Cuba.

Now we are about to embrace Red China in the fraternal order of the United Nations. Yet the administration declares that we are "winning the peace race." The question we ask is how many more "victories" can the country stand?

The Chamber of Commerce is about to appoint a committee to work with the college administration in an effort to secure a stronger summer school program.

It is no secret that we lose many fine faculty members simply because they are not able to earn a living here in the summer. They move on to institutions where employment is not so seasonal.

The taxpayer is losing partial use of a school plant when summer school is less than capacity.

Figure the investment at a rate of 4 percent and the interest on it would be in the neighborhood of $600,000 a year. A fourth of this amount is $150,000 lost to the taxpayer if the plant is not used.

Of course a part of the plant is used in the summer school each year and the $150,000 is not a total loss. However, most members of the Chamber of Commerce board have expressed the feeling that the summer school program could be stronger.

A lot depends on the legislature and the funds provided. We're glad that a Chamber of Commerce committee will be working in the future with the college administration for the betterment of the institution.

We hope to see more representation in the Chamber of Commerce for Randall County agriculture. We think the Chamber would be an excellent instrument for the dairy industry as well as for other segments of agriculture.

Following Dirksen's appearance, the Republican Party of Texas will conduct a workshop for party leaders and workers the next day at the School Administration Building auditorium, 810 W. 8th, Amarillo.

Invited to the workshop are Republicans from the counties of the 18th Congressional District.

Director of the workshop will be Paul DesRochers, Regional Field Director for the Republican Party of Texas. He will lead discussions in such subjects as precinct organization, fund raising, how to run a primary election, selecting candidates and public relations.

Hilltop Views

BY DR. J. A. HILL

Saturday, September 23, 1961

The whole civilized world is wondering today about the future of the United Nations. Will it survive and continue humanity's search for international peace, or is it trembling on the verge of dissolution and complete world chaos?

In 1945, as we emerged from the terror and burden of World War II, most Americans and many millions of others prayed for some form of world organization that would forever prevent another such catastrophe. In response to that sentiment the United States took the initiative in creating what came to be called United Nations.

It should be noticed at this point that United Nations is not a super government with power to enforce its decisions anywhere in the world by force of arms. It has no military organizations, no law-making body, no chief executive such as a king or president, no courts, and no power to levy taxes. It can hardly be called a government at all. Its power is derived from its prestige, which, in turn is derived from the great number of nation members. The aspirations of civilized men for world peace through a brotherhood of nations constitutes the soul of the organization. Those who fashioned it believed in the dignity of man and in each one's right to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. Our own U.S. Senator Tom Connally had a major part in writing its charter.

It has been opposed from the beginning; and under Russia's leadership is more opposed now than when first proclaimed. Some of the criticism is perhaps justifiable, but most of it is based upon lack of information or other unsupportable factors.

We sometimes hear it said that U.N. has never accomplished anything, so why keep on supporting it? To meet this criticism just a few accomplishments are listed below.

1. In 1946 when Russian troops were pushing further and further into the independent state of Iran, The Security Council of United Nations brought such pressure to bear as induced the withdrawal of Russian troops--stopped at that point her intended conquest of the world.

2. In 1948 U.N. stopped military operations in Palestine when the British mandate there expired, thus smothering the flames of war in the Near East.

3. In 1949 war broke out between the Netherlands and Indonesia. U.N. intervened and recognized Indonesia as an independent nation. It immediately adopted a republican form of government with a constitution somewhat similar to that of the U.S.

4. When in 1958 Lebanon complained to U.N. that Communists were infiltrating her government preparatory to taking it over a group of U.N. observers were sent to that little state, conditions were quickly stabilized and U.S. troops which had gone there by request were released.

5. In a half dozen other areas where little wars broke out or threatened to break out U.N.'s intervention brought order out of chaos and thus prevented larger wars.

6. Through its auxiliary agencies U.N. has noticeably raised standards of living in backward countries through extensive educational programs, combatting disease, relieving poverty and hunger, and introducing improved methods and implements in agriculture. These achievements have undoubtedly strengthened the foundations of peace.

In addition to the above achievements U.N. has rendered maximum service to the many millions of refugees following World War II. Member nations have been encouraged to open their doors to these unfortunates and provide them opportunities for rehabilitation. This policy not only reveals the humanitarian spirit of U.N., but also tends to stabilize an important sector of world population and thus promotes the cause of peace.

Some people complain that the U.S. is paying more than a fair share of the cost of U.N. This charge can hardly be denied. Yet, the regular budget amounts to an average per capita cost of only 16 cents to the people of this country. When all related agencies, such as the Food and Agricultural organizations, World Health Organization, UNESCO, the International Atomic Energy Agency, and several others are included, the per capita cost rises to 67 cents. This can hardly be considered excessive except by comparison with what others pay. It amounts to about one-third of the total cost and more than twice as much as Russia pays. Even so, it is more becoming to this nation to pay more than its fair share than to pay less.

Another thing to be considered here is the fact that Russia has tried from the very beginning to destroy U.N., and failing that to take it over. Our withdrawal now would turn it over to Russia and cost us the friendship of many millions of free people. It would be a blow to all the political principles and ideals upon which this country is built. In the opinion of this column it would amount to forsaking the destiny to which Providence has called the American people.

Bufs Face Western Saturday at El Paso

With a surprising 55-8 win over Brigham Young University behind them, West Texas State's Buffaloes are turning their attentions to a team they haven't whipped since 1950.

The Buffs, who thrilled a home crowd of 12,000 with a dazzling offense in the opener, will travel to El Paso Saturday to meet Texas Western in the first Border Conference game for both clubs.

The Miners, coached by former West Texas star Ben Collins, have won the last 10 outings and hold a 14-7 edge in this hot rivalry. In their first game this year, Western dropped a 20-6 decision to Sun Bowl team Utah State, the favorite in the Skyline race.

West Texas will leave Friday morning by bus and Coach Joe Kerbel plans an afternoon workout in the Sun Bowl Stadium. The squad will headquarter at the Hilton Hotel in El Paso.

The Buffs came out of the Brigham Young game in top physical condition, and Coach Kerbel said everyone should be ready for duty against the pass-minded Miners. Texas Western is engineered by John Furman, a senior left-handed passer whom Coach Kerbel calls "one of the best passers in the United States".

On the basis of last season and Saturday's opener, the Buffs will be able to counter with a passing whiz of their own. Junior Jim Dawson, 175-pounder from Borger, completed 10 of 11 passes against the Cougars for 110 yards and two touchdowns. Halfback Jerry Logan of the Buffs completed the only pass he tossed, giving the Buffs a night's work of 11 completions in 12 attempts.

Buffaloes Roam Over Brigham Cougar Team

DAVID McINTURFF, West Texas State halfback from Sundown, picks up six yards on a pitchout on the Buffs' last touchdown drive in Saturday night's victory over Brigham Young University. The Buffs won 55-8 in the season opener in Buffalo Bowl before 12,000 fans. WT photo by John Pagan

West Texas State College Buffaloes kicked off the 1961 season with a bout not soon to be forgotten in college history. They downed Brigham Young University 55-8, the largest score margin the Buffs have chalked up since 1956 when they walloped the Sul Ross Cowboys 48-0.

A Buff game from the start, WT had a 20-point lead in the first six minutes of the game. First touchdown for the Buffs came before the game was a minute old.

Pete Pedro did a lot of the work Saturday night. The first score was set up by a Jim Dawson pass to end Joe Granato for a 28-yard gain.

Pedro made two carries and then Dawson hit him with a td pass from the 18-yard-line.

Charlie Williams, end and kicker for the Buffs hit with the extra point.

Brigham Young lost the ball on the first play following the kick off and in two runs Pedro had made another mark for the Buffs. Again Williams centered the goal posts for the extra point.

On the next kick off WT was penalized 5 yards and kicked again. This time, the Utah team did not have a chance to try a play.

WT picked up the fumble and eight plays later had their third touchdown of the game. Williams failed on the extra point kick and score stood at 20-0.

At the beginning of the second quarter Brigham Young was in good scoring position with first and ten on the 12-yard-line. Ball went to the Buffs after an incomplete pass on the fourth down with nine yards to go.

Then in nine hard-hitting plays the Buffs again went over the goal. Dawson ran the one needed yard on a keeper.

Williams' kick was good for a score of 27-0.

Following the kick off each team had to punt out of tight situations.

Brigham wound up with the ball and started upfield from their own 25. They marched to the WT 48 and were in a first and fourth situation when a pass was intercepted by Jerry Logan.

Logan grabbed the ball on the 35 and ran it back to the Brigham Young 2 setting up another score.

Ollie Ross charged over on the next play. Williams again hit on the kick bringing game score to 34-0.

Following the kick off Brigham Young lost the ball to the Buffs on the first play.

WT had only 12 yards to go and in three plays made another score. Dawson threw to Jerry Richardson waiting in the end zone for the td.

Williams kicked, adding another point to the Buff tally. Halftime score stood at 41-0.

Brigham Young came out after the half set on scoring and did in six minutes. A short pass from tailback Eldon Fortie to end Dick Wood accounted for the team's only touchdown. Fortie again hit Wood with a pass for another two points.

The Buffs took the kick off on their own 23 and punched upfield to score just as the gun sounded ending their third quarter. Dawson carried the ball over the 2-yard-line on a keeper. Williams kicked the extra point.

Final touchdown for the Buffs came toward the end of the last quarter. Dawson set up the score on a pass to end Jim Perry. Perry was stopped on the 15.

Then Logan on a pitch out cut back inside to the 3-yard-line. Quinton Eppinette, sophomore fullback, smashed over for the final score.

Again Williams' kick was good to bring game score to 55-8.

Canyon Eagles Face Sunray Friday

With a one-three season standing, the Canyon Eagles face another tough opponent Friday on Eagle home nesting.

Sunray, "a scrappy ball club with a lot of hustle," will give the Eagles a game to remember and provide a hard match.

Coach Jeep Webb said the Sunray club is known for moving all the time and their quarterback, John Worst, is capable of just about any football maneuver.

Their backfield is equally matched with Canyon as far as weight but their line is a little lighter.

Webb is predicting a very interesting ball game.

Green, Powers Vows Read In Double Ring Ceremony

MRS. GENE POWERS

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Bernice Green of this city and Gene Powers of Denver, Colorado, in a double ring ceremony performed Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the Joseph A. Hill Memorial Chapel on the campus of West Texas State College. Bob Wear, minister of the Central Church of Christ, officiated.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Green, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Fred Bragg.

The chapel was decorated in the bride's chosen colors of blue and white, with arrangements of gladioli, before a background of candelabra and greenery.

Judy Roberts sang, "With These Hands", and "My Own True Love" accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Mead Humphries. The traditional wedding music was played.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Church

Mrs. Linda Poole, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She was attired in a dress of white organza and wore a white clip hat. Her bouquet was of blue asters that matched her blue slippers.

Miss Mayla Atkinson was seated at the guest book. She also wore a white dress with blue slippers and a blue corsage. Miss Roberts was similarly attired, and Mrs. Humphries wore blue.

Best man was Mead Humphries and ushers were Mike Poole and Gary Humphries.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her wedding a ballerina length dress of white lace over satin designed with scalloped neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. She wore lace mitts, and her shoulder length veil was attached to a clip which was accented with pearls. She carried a bouquet of white gardenias atop a white Bible.

of Christ Bible Center. Serving and assisting were Mrs. L.H. Roberts aunt of the bride; Mrs. Jimmy Brasher, Mrs. Gene Rogers, Mrs. Teddy Gunt-er, Miss Carolyn Gray, Miss Darlene Morris, Mrs. J.D. Louder, Mrs. E.W. Shugart and Mrs. Walter Partridge. The table was covered with a cloth of lace and net over blue, and centered with an arrangement of blue asters. The wedding cake was decorated in white.

After a wedding trip to Colorado Springs, Mr. and Mrs. Powers will be at home at Littleton, Colorado. For traveling the bride wore a brown suit with pink toned accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Canyon High School, and an ex-student of West Texas State College. The bridegroom also was graduated from Canyon High School, and attended the University of Colorado. He is now employed with the Martin Missile Company Denver, Colorado.

Club Members Plan For Housewarming

Madge Sutton was hostess to members of the Tongue and Thimble Club in her home Friday afternoon. Games were played and plans were made for a housewarming for Edna Wilson. She will be presented with a set of Melmac dishes, and each person is to bring a small gift. The club will provide refreshments.

Punch, coffee and cake squares were served to Mrs. E.W. Schaeffer, Mrs. Evelyn Shipman, Mrs. Erwin Wilson, Mrs. Ora Evans, Annie Wesley, Pam Shipman, and the hostess.

Lesson for Club Becomes Reality

Mrs. Charlie Winters gave the program when members of the Parks Sewing Club met in Elwood Park, Amarillo, Thursday afternoon. Her topic was, "The Miracles of Our Savior".

The list of miracles performed by Christ was outlined, and later the story of "The Feeding of the Four Thousand" was told. Mrs. Winters said, "Most people do not know, nor study this miracle, they only remember the story."

After refreshments were served and the club adjourned, the lesson became a reality. The group observed a woman and several children in the park, who appeared to be in need. Upon inquiring, the woman said that they were traveling through Amarillo, enroute to another destination, and that they were having car trouble.

The group was tired and hungry, and the club members gave the woman a number of sandwiches and cookies. Mrs. Winters was reminded that earlier in the week, she had also fed a needy man.

Petition Thanks Merchants Who Police News Counters

All over the United States legislative attempts to ban the sale of indecent reading material, especially to our youngsters, are evidence of the growing alarm of American citizens over this menace to the youth of our land.

As individuals of the Canyon community concerned about the effect of this indecent reading material on the minds of our own boys and girls of this community, we wish to express our gratitude to those Canyon merchants who have voluntarily adopted a policy refusing to sell magazines without checking them before they are placed on the stands, and we should like most respectfully to petition those merchants who have not yet done so to consider the adoption of this policy for the protection and benefit of our own Canyon boys and girls.

(It has not been feasible to contact nearly everyone in Canyon, so the fact that a person's name does not appear on the list does not in any way indicate a lack of interest.)

Lt. Teddy Lowe Attends Air Division Briefing

Teddy Lowe, first lieutenant in the air force, was one of 11 junior officers selected to attend a "Project To Star" session at Tachikawa Air Base, Japan, according to Brig. Gen. Theodore G. Kershaw, commander of the 315th Air Division.

Staff heads briefed the younger officers on the division's mission as the airlift arm of the Pacific Air Forces. Purpose of the meeting was to show the officers how their individual jobs fit into the overall accomplishment of the organization's mission.

The two-day program included a round table discussion, attended by personnel staff officers, at which the young officers were encouraged to discuss freely policies which affect their air force careers.

With less than five years service each, the officers represented a cross section of the positions filled by junior men assigned to the division. Included were pilots, navigators, transportation officers and an air terminal commander.

Lowe, a 1954 graduate of Canyon High School, attended Texas A&M College. While in college he was active in student affairs and served as a yell leader.

Celebration Set This Year for Oct. 14

Preparations have begun early on the campus of West Texas State College for the big-annual celebration on the calendar, which for years has always been Homecoming. Date this year is October 14.

The day designed to welcome back to the campus ex-students of WT, will feature the events which have characterized WT Homecomings of many years. These are club reunions, parade, barbecue, football game, and a dance.

Registration of exes will begin at 9 a.m. in the Student Union Building and continue until 3 p.m. Reunions of clubs are slated from noon until the parade starts at 3:30 p.m. Barbecue, catered again this year by Walter Jetton of Fort Worth, will be served from 4:30 until 6:30 p.m., and the football game with the Buffaloes meeting the Arizona State Sun Devils, will be at 7:30 p.m. The dance is to run from 10 p.m. until 1 a.m. Tickets for the barbecue will cost $1.25 each, and the meal will be served in old Buffalo Stadium. Should it rain on Homecoming Day, the barbecue will be served in the cafeteria. The parade is expected to feature about two dozen floats from college organizations, a number of area high school bands, and several riding clubs of the region.

This year a nationally known dance band, Charlie Spivak and his orchestra, has been obtained for the Homecoming Dance, scheduled in the Ballroom of the Student Union Building. Admission will be $1.50 a person, and the dance will start immediately after the football game.

WT students will begin the Homecoming celebration on October 12 with their traditional Homecoming assembly program which is highlighted by the crowning of the 1961 Homecoming Queen. Western Week, when all students and faculty don western wear, also starts that day.

Livestock Building Has Outstanding Features

Randall County Junior Livestock Association now has a building equipped for many functions -- including the 1962 county livestock show.

Built along the style of the new high school gymnasium and auditorium the livestock building is constructed of heavy timber, brick and corrugated iron.

Entrance faces 17th Street. Front is of brick and redwood. Two doors, one at each side of the building, constitute front entrances.

Between the doors on the inside of the building are rest rooms and a snack bar.

The snack bar, equipped with a large electric grill, features cabinet styling which would become any home. The grill has a ventilated hood and the room is wired to handle any appliance. Opening from the snack bar into the all purpose room are two large serving doors.

The all purpose room, 42 x 60, is highlighted by mahogany paneling at each end. Insulated and heated by circulating heaters, the room has two sets of lights. One is a very bright set giving daylight illumination and the other if softer and in colors.

Another outstanding feature of the building is the sound system. High fidelity sound serves an automatic record player and this sound can be piped throughout the building and even outside. Then, hand and floor microphones and be ties into the system from many "jacks" located inside and outside the building.

Six speakers outlet into the all purpose room giving a well-balanced sound and larger speakers go into the show room at the rear.

The back room, which will house livestock stalls during the county show, is 42 x 75. The floor is hard packed caliche and corrugated iron shutters along the side walls may be fastened open providing proper ventilation.

A wash rack, built of cinder block, is in one corner. It has both hot and cold water outlets. A floor drain allows residue to escape.

General building construction consists of side walls of brick. The roof is of 3-inch double tongue and groove timber, mopped and sealed with a composition material.

Plexiglass sky domes allow natural lighting in the all purpose room.

The laminated arches are exposed along each side of the building and inside, also.

The west wall, at the rear of the livestock room, is built completely of corrugated iron and can be removed if necessary. This will prevent major reconstruction in case the building is extended.

MONA HILDRETH, county home demonstration agent, is shown in the snack bar of the livestock show barn. Kitchie is equipped with a large electric grill.

Parking facilities are almost unlimited at the side. Cars may be parked on all sides of the building and to the north is an area large enough to handle almost any crowd. It will be caliche in the near future.

All members of the livestock association are proud of this major improvement and want to extend an invitation to everyone to visit the facility this Sunday.

Book Club Home Tour Set Sunday at 2 p.m.

Sunday afternoon Canyon residents will have the opportunity to view some of the newest and most attractive homes in this vicinity, when the Junior Woman's Book Club sponsors its annual tour of homes. Hours are from 2 until 6. Mrs. J.C. Bellah is tour chairman for the club.

Proceeds from the tour will be donated by the club toward worthy local projects. Last year the funds went to the Girl Scouts, Randall County Library and the Junior Livestock building.

Tickets are $1 and may be purchased from any member of the organization, and will also be available at each home included in the tour.

The Canyon Garden Club will place appropriate floral arrangements in each home for the occasion.

Homes included in the tour are those of Pete Fischbacher, VFW Road, 3 miles north; Owen Williams, 70019th St.; Sidney Burgess, 2417 Seventh Avenue; Bob Wilkinson, 2521 Tenth Avenue; R. B. Davis, 2524 Ninth Avenue; John Whinnery, 3202 Conner Drive, and Clay Cooper, 418 Thompson Lane.

The Fischbacher family has resided in their home of contemporary styling for ten months. The farm home with oak and wrought iron trim is decorated throughout in beige tones. The furnishings are in formal Early American with the exception of the master bedroom which is in Italian Provincial. Contemporary style is also used in the Owen Williams home of beige rock faced brick with solar block trim. The interior designed especially for the family is decorated with bold colors. Wrought iron and black accessories accent the decor, and the Williams' son, Jerry, has made many pieces of the furniture, including two lamps in the den. He has made several tile tables, and also, the head board of the bed in his bedroom. Quite interesting is the coffee table in the den which Jerry fashioned from a large dining table and finished with a ceramic top. A storage house and work shop with sky light roof are located at the rear.

The Cape Cod cherry red brick home belongs to the Sidney Burgess family. It has white trim and colonial woodwork. Sidney takes pride in taking discarded pieces of furniture and restoring them to their original beauty. He has made, or refinished, most of their furniture. They have many antiques throughout the home, and a number of them are family heirlooms. She is particularly proud of a doll that was hers as a child, and is now displayed in a shadow box. A patio with sliding glass doors opening from the house is a feature of the Bob Wilkinson home. Early American furniture is found in the coffee room and in the family room, while the remainder of the home is French Provincial. Colors are tangerine, olive greens and soft browns.

The Davis home is constructed of red brick with white trim. Since Mrs. Davis is a lover of antiques, the home is furnished to a great extent with that type. She also collects cut glass, and several pieces are displayed on the piano. She is quite proud of a curio cabinet and has many pieces of china.

Firemen to Hold Home Inspections

Home inspections by the fire department start Wednesday, October 11, in observation of Fire Prevention Week, according to Charlie Foster, fire captain.

Check lists of possible hazards were sent home with Canyon school students in order to correct deficiencies. Foster said the fire department must be invited into a home before making an inspection.

To do this simply fill out the form and return it to school or call OLS-4741, Foster concluded.

Pedro Becomes Buff All-Time Great in First Game for WT

Peter Charles Pedro "Pistol Pete" made his mark in Buffalo Stadium during the first quarter last Saturday night as he twisted and turned to TD land time and again.

The West Texas whirling dervish was a fan pleaser too. He drew personal applause on several occasions.

Pete has several assets that appealed to Buffalo coaches. He's 19 years old and he's fast.

1. He's small as college half-backs go. He stands 5-7 and weighs 160.

2. He's very fast. He has been clocked in 9.7 in the 100-yard dash in track competition.

3. He's a break-away threat, one of the few West Texas State has had in many a football season.

"He's the fastest back I have ever coached," said Coach Joe Kerbel, and the Buffalo tail-twister has seen some good ones in his 15 years in the business. "Pete has some things to learn," continued Kerbel, "but he's a football player in addition to being fast. He's everything for his size."

How did Pistol Pete wind up at West Texas State? It's an interesting story, one that reaches from coast to coast.

A couple of West Texas coaches were on the West Coast early last spring trying to recruit junior college talent. While on the Bakersfield, Calif., JC campus, the Buff coaches were told by Coach Ray Newman: "I know where there is a 9.7 runner. I don't know whether he's a football player, but he can run."

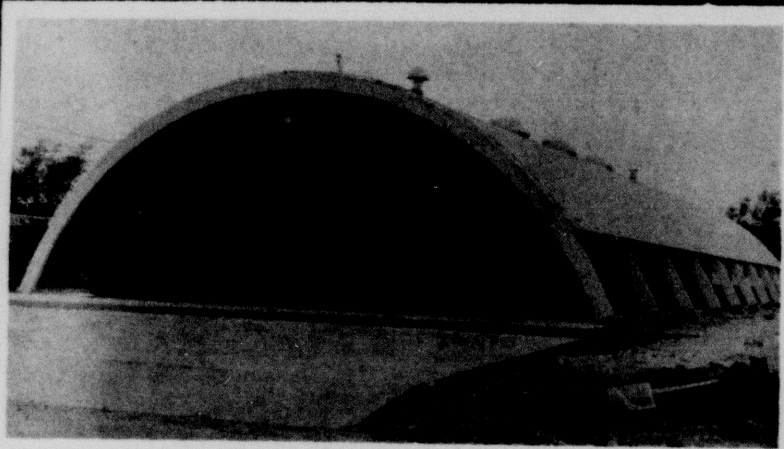

Because Bakersfield was a junior college, Newman couldn't recruit Pedro, but proceeded to tell Buff coaches about him: A few days later, Coach Kerbel got on the phone and called Pete at his home in Lynn, and convinced him West Texas State was the place for him.

BRUCE BLACKABY FORD CO. CANYON, TEXAS

The Complete Line Of Ford Cars & Trucks Showing Here In Canyon

Bruce Blackaby reports he will have the "complete Ford line on display in his showroom, Friday, Sept. 29th." They will include Galaxies, Galaxie 500's, Thunderbirds, Station wagons, Falcons, Falcon pickups and Ford trucks. Blackaby further stated "Ford offers an even greater variety of powers plant and transmissions this year. Persons seeking high performance can, for example, order a Thunderbird Super High Performance 390-cubic-inch V-8 engine with triple carburetor and Ford's all new four-speed manual transmission. For maximum economy, there's the 273-cubic-inch 6-cylinder engine with a manual three-speed transmission and overdrive.

Featuring a crisp, fresh approach to Ford's classic straight-line styling, the 1962 Ford Galaxie incorporates major engineering advancements that reduce recommended owner maintenance to a convenient "twice-a-year" level.

For the first time, the popular Ford Galaxie is being offered in twelve models in two series: The Galaxie and the new Galaxie "500" series.

The 1962 Galaxie is the first regular production vehicle in automotive history to have a factory recommended 6,000-mile service interval.

Lee A. Iacocca, Ford Motor Company vice president and general manager of the Ford Division, said that in addition to the many self-maintenance features introduced on the Galaxie last year, 1962 Galaxies will offer:

Bruce Blackaby Ford Company Introduces The All New Line Of 1962 Fords, Friday, September 29th

Nearly 1,100,000 Ford Galaxies have been sold since the car was introduced less than three years ago.

"This strong sales achievement," said Bruce Blackaby local Ford Dealer, "is a credit to the fine styling and engineering features of the Galaxies and has prompted us to add another series, the Galaxie '500' to the line for 1962."

"The Galaxie and Galaxie '500' are low price, luxury automobiles—a segment of the market which has demonstrated strong consumer interest in the last three years," Mr. Blackaby said.

In its first year, the Galaxie has continued and during the 1961 model year, Galaxie sales accounted for 44.5 per cent of the total industry sales. More than 464,000 Galaxies were sold in the 1959 model year.

High public acceptance of the Galaxie has continued and during the 1961 model year, Galaxie sales accounted for 44.5 per cent of the standard Ford total sales.

The Ford Falcon, most successful new car ever launched, will reach another milestone before the end of 1961—the sale of the one millionth Falcon.

"We expect to reach the 1,000,000 sales mark by late November or early December, giving the Falcon an unparalleled sales record in the automotive industry," Mr. Blackaby said.

Mr. Blackaby also pointed out that the Falcon is not only the No. 1 selling compact in the industry, a position it has held since three months after its introduction, but is also the third best selling car in the industry.

Ford Falcon Boasts New Styling For 1962, 13 Models In All!

The Ford Falcon for 1962 boasts new styling, an expansion of the economy and maintenance-free features that have made it the best selling compact car in the country, and the addition of two new models.

The new models are a Falcon Squire station wagon and a Deluxe Club Wagon.

While describing the compact car's new styling as still "distinctively Falcon," Bruce Blackaby pointed out that the Falcon has a new grille, new front fenders and hood, and larger taillights, but still retains the inside-outside dimensions of its predecessors.

In addition, Mr. Blackaby stated, 62 engineering improvements have been incorporated into the 1962 models.

On the interior, the instrument cluster has been revamped and there are new fabrics, styles and colors for all models.

In addition, Mr. Blackaby stated, 62 engineering improvements have been incorporated into the 1962 models.

THIS WEEK'S GAME

TEXAS WESTERN VS: WT BUFFALOS

PLAYED AT EL PASO 8:00 PM SATURDAY

Joe Kerbel, Head Coach

West Texas State is in the middle of a football revival and the man who gets most of the credit is Joe Kerbel, a 39-year-old precisionist who thinks football 24 hours a day.

The Buffaloes made big strides last year, coming back with a 3-7 record that does not tell the whole story after back-to-back 1-9 seasons in 1958 and '59.

A 1947 graduate of Oklahoma, Kerbel enjoyed great success as a high school mentor. As a head coach, he compiled a record of 76 wins, 15 defeats and 2 ties at high schools in Cleveland, Okla., Breckenridge and Amarillo. He was assistant coach in charge of offense at Texas Tech two seasons before coming to West Texas.

The Kerbel's have five children, and he holds the rank of captain in the Marine Reserve. He employs a split-T, pro-type offense that is designed to score frequently and entertain fans.

That Kerbel is thorough in his coaching technique can best be pointed up by what other coaches say about him. Many of his high school products starred in college ball, and Bud Wilkinson, U. of Oklahoma coach, once said: "High school players coached by Joe Kerbel come to us better prepared for college ball than anyone we get."

Another tribute to his coaching ability was paid this fall when he was chosen as one of the guest lecturers at New Mexico's state coaching clinic at Albuquerque.

Carruth said he had discussed this possibility with the administration.

He previously asked the commission if college traffic cases could be handled in corporation court. They decided that these cases would be out of the city jurisdiction.

All decided that a possible solution would be to deed college thoroughfares to the city. This would allow city patrolmen to work on the college streets.

As it is now they may pursue lawbreakers onto the campus only if the act is committed outside the campus.

Commissioners then took up study of suggestions made by Bill York, city manager, L.D. Caldwell, chief of police, and Dr. J.L. Markham, veterinarian.

Suggestions include keeping dogs on leashes, in pens and vaccinated. Also, a pound is planned for dogs picked up on city streets.

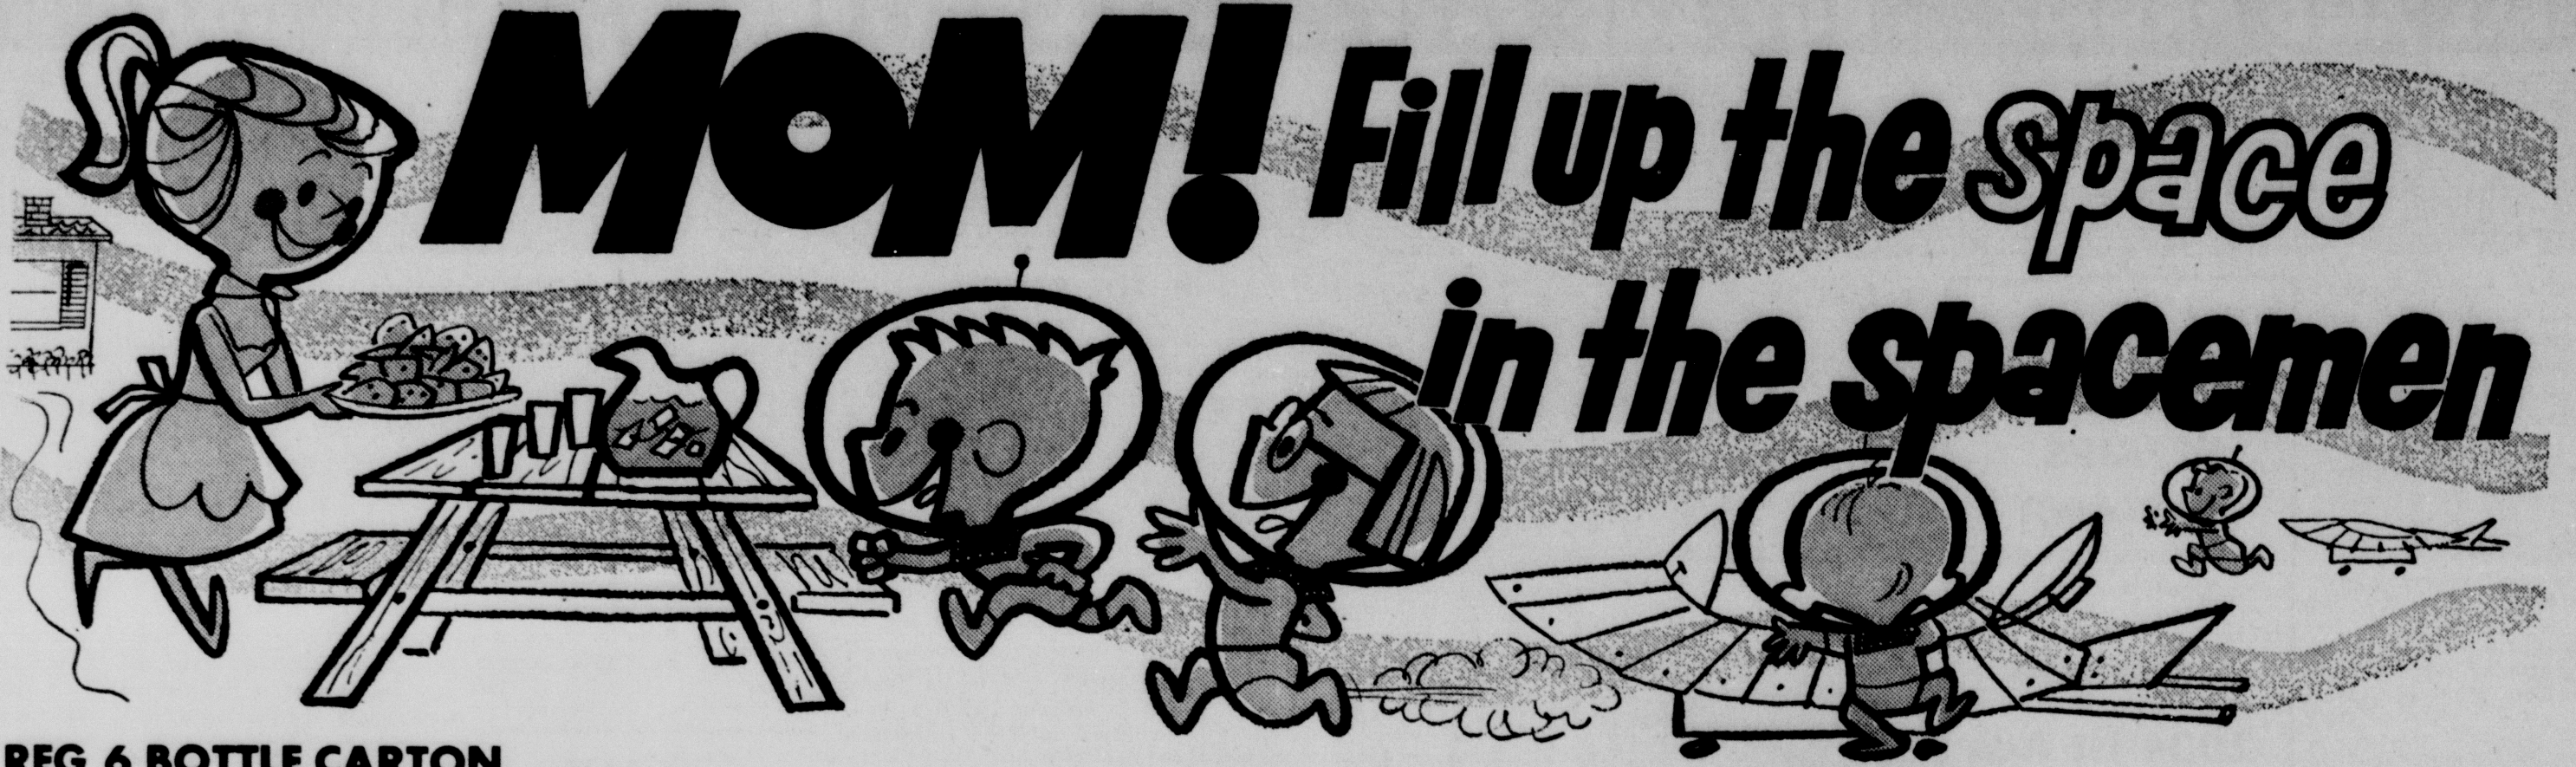

Commissioners further suggested that cats be required to have a vaccination for rabies. They said the cats would be marked by an ear tattoo or a collar and tag.

York was instructed to draw up an ordinance on animal control.

Commissioners approved disbursements and minutes for August and renewed Southwestern Bell Telephone Company's franchise on second reading.

Next meeting of the commissioners will be October 9.

Membership campaign, which got underway Monday evening at an Italian-type dinner for board members and workers, will continue to 3:00 PM Saturday.

Canyon, Texas

WIDE MODEL is one of the top sires at the Allison-Tackitt Hampshire swine farm south of Canyon. He was All-American boar last year in his age group and sired the national winner they showed at Austin, Minnesota.

Randall Swine Breeders Win 'Hog World Series' Honors

Randall County swine breeders, Allison and Tackitt and O.H. Rahlfs, brought new honors to the county—and for that matter, to the state at the national barrow show held recently at Austin, Minnesota.

Known as the "world series of swine shows," no Texan had ever won top honors at this event during its 16-year history.

But this year both Allison and Tackitt and O.H. Rahlfs walked off with grand champion honors in their respective divisions. Allison and Tackitt bred and showed the grand champion Duroc boar.

Though neighbors living only a mile apart, these men operate independently raising different breeds of hogs.

Allison and Tackitt—D. L. Allison and Larry Tackitt—began their operation in 1958.

Tackitt was teaching agriculture in Happy High School and had a Hampshire sow with no place for it to stay.

"I took it out to Allison's and I guess you could say that was the beginning of our business," Tackitt said.

From the very first they began to receive honors. They bought four gilts and one boar within a year.

Then, they bred and then sold "Magnifier" at the National Hampshire Conference at Fort Worth. Since that time "Magnifier" has become recognized as the outstanding sire of the Hampshire breed. He now belongs to a Missouri breeder.

They have shown the champion barrow at two national conferences and also a reserve champion gilt at a national conference.

"We've shown in national competition four times and have had four champions," Allison said.

Now operating with approximately 30 producing sows their operation is much bigger than it sounds. With each sow averaging an eight-pig litter twice a year their farm is sometimes heavily-populated with young stock.

Tackitt estimated that they will farrow about 450 pigs a year.

Both men are quite active in West Texas Swine Improvement Association located at West Texas State College farm. Tackitt is president of the organization and Allison is treasurer.

Instrumental in starting the organization they have had animals in the last four of the station's tests. Records kept at the station are beneficial from both a herd improvement program and sales.

These records include daily gains, feed conversion and carcass information on litter mates.

Another practice used by Allison and Tackitt in herd improvement is slaughter and study of a litter mate's carcass.

"This way we can determine what is inside the animal," Tackitt pointed out. "In so many of our registered animal businesses we can see the outside but things such as meat production is pure speculation."

"When a litter mate is slaughtered we can determine to a great extent how much fat is in the animal, size of meat cuts and conformation."

helps in future production, but goes to buyers and show judges.

This year, October 23, they will have their first private sale. No consignments are being taken for this private sale.

It will be held two miles north and one mile east of Happy.

Both men said they will have 35 gilts, 15 boars and 30 barrows sold through the ring.

Rahlfs, who lives one mile west of the Allison-Tackitt operation, raises registered Durocs.

No newcomer to the hog business, he once operated a commercial hog farm. For the last six years, he has specialized in the registered breed.

His swine and their offspring have won many local shows and his recent honor at the Austin, Minnesota, show revealed that he truly raises champion hogs.

Rahlfs tries to keep his producing sows down to 20 head.

"I like to have 10 juniors and 10 seniors," he said.

His major boar, "Style Hytest Lad," is one of two certified meat sires in Texas. This boar has sired a long list of prize winners.

"My hogs have never stood under second place in any show," he pointed out.

A participant in the West Texas Swine Improvement Association, Rahlfs has had an animal in every test conducted at the Canyon station. One of his pigs holds the highest feed efficiency record of any hog tested there.

It produced 100 pounds of pork per 248 pounds of feed. No one has come dangerously close to this record so far.

Last year Rahlfs had a second place boar at the Duroc show at Lubbock and first place junior spring boar and grand champion Duroc at the Southwestern Barrow Show.

The grand champion Duroc boar at the Southwestern Barrow Show later went on to win reserve champion honors at the State Fair at Dallas after being sold.

Other honors for Rahlfs' animals include: grand champion at the West Texas Duroc show at Lubbock, another grand championship at the Southwestern Barrow show, grand champion gilt at Southwestern, grand champion Duroc barrow at Amarillo Fat Stock Show, champion Duroc barrow at the Swisher County show; first and second Duroc barrows at the Randall County show and reserve champion barrow at the Randall show.

Several Randall County adult 4-H Club Leaders will participate in a leadership development workshop at Ceta Canyon on September 27-29. This workshop will be directed by specialists from Texas A & M College extension service. About two hundred adult leaders and all the Extension Agents from District I will attend.

Be sure to attend the formal open house at the Randall County Junior Livestock Exhibition Building Sunday September 29. We are most anxious to have the people of Randall County see this beautiful and useful building.

Two swine breeders from Randall County showed the breeders from the corn belt some champion Texas bred boars at the Austin, Minnesota National Show recently. In the sixteen year history of this show no Texas breeder has ever showed a champion. A registered Duroc Boar from the O.H. Rahlfs herd won the Grand Champion Duroc Boar title at this show while the registered Hampshire Boar from the Allison-Tackitt herd won the Champion Hampshire boar class. These two herds are now recognized nation-wide. They are located just north of Happy in Randall County. Congratulations O.H., Larry, and D.L.

Air filters are not necessary for small home shelters to protect them from radioactive fallout. This information comes from investigations by the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization. In fallout most radioactivity is associated with large particles which settle rapidly. These particles are easily prevented from entering the ventilation system with a hood or gooseneck fixture having a definite gravity separating effect. With such protection the radioactive particles entering a shelter will be insignificant.

Work Varied, Interesting Says High School Counselor

Beginning his second year as counselor for Canyon schools is Larry Roberts, who feels that a great deal of progress was made in his work with the students during the past term. He believes that even more progress will be seen this year, since parents, teachers and students are more familiar with the service, and realize the many advantages which are to be gained by guidance and counseling.

Roberts received his training at Henderson State College in Arkansas, and at West Texas State. He and his family reside at 1003 7th Street. The children are Shirley, fifth grade, and Mark, who is in the third grade.

The counselor says that his work is varied and interesting. He lists typical questions and comments a counselor hears from students in high school. "I would like to go to college, but I don't think my parents can afford to help me. Are there scholarships that I may apply for?"

"Here I am a junior in high school and don't have any idea what I want to do. Do you have any information about occupations?"

"I've been thinking about going to college to become an engineer. Can you tell which college would be best for that?"

"I'd like to drop physics; I just can't understand it. And besides, I need a study hall."

"Do I have to take a foreign language to go to college?"

"Because of the complex economic, social and educational demands of our society today, it is difficult for our young people to plan wisely for the future. The demands society makes upon youth are continually changing. Occupations are becoming more and more specialized, and economic conditions become more and more challenging. Educational needs of youth are so varied and school curriculums are so expanded that students may have difficulty in selecting the courses that will best fit their individual interests and abilities," Roberts explains.

Guidance Services, therefore, are designed to give systematic aid to pupils of all ages in making adjustments to educational, vocational, personal and other problems. The guidance program consists of all the organized non-instructional services within the total educational program which assist individual students in making wise choices, solving their problems, and improving their planning for the future.

The guidance point of view recognizes that each pupil is an individual, not just a member of a class. It accepts each pupil as an independent personality. The guidance is to understand each pupil and in turn help him to understand himself. A guidance program helps each pupil learn to make the best use of his abilities, both physical and mental.

"One of the services which helps us accomplish our purposes is the testing program," the counselor said. Tests are tion, we have a complete file of occupational briefs published by Chronicle Guidance Publications," he stated.

The purpose of the counseling service is to assist pupils in making effective adjustments to the school situation, to help them discover and use their abilities, and to aid them in not given just to be filed away and forgotten. Test results are used by teachers to help them do a better job in working with individual students, and in counseling with students to help them understand themselves and make the most of their abilities and opportunities.

Another service may be called the Educational and Occupational Information Service. There is a collection of occupational and educational information available to student and teachers. "We try to help students find the information they need in making their plans. Among other types of informa-

High School, Junior High Participate in Testing

Canyon High School and the junior high school began participation in a nationwide, eight-year study of academic prediction and growth, Joe A. Gibson, school superintendent announced today.

The study is sponsored jointly by Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N.J., and the College Entrance Examination Board, New York City. Approximately 40,000 students in public schools in 20 representtative American communities and six boys preparatory schools are participating in the project. Larry Roberts, guidance director, is in charge of the local testing program.

According to Dr. Scarvia B. Anderson, project director at ETS, the study will seek to determine how academic growth, a major goal of education, varies with or is affected by characteristics of the school and experiences of students. The study will also try to provide an answer to the question "How early in his school career can the academic standing of a twelfth-grader be accurately predicted?" Characteristics of students who drop out of school will also be studied.

Students in grades 5, 7, 9, and 11 will take three groups of tests: The School and College Ability Tests (SCAT), The Sequential Tests of Educational Progress (STEP), and Tests of General Information. SCAT measures a student's aptitude for doing work at the next higher academic level. STEP measures achievement in mathematics, social studies, and science, and skills in reading, writing and listening. The Tests of General Information cover specific facts which "an alert, informed adult could reasonably be expected to know"; facts not specifically taught in school are emphasized.

Except for those students now in the 11th grade, all students will be retested at two-year intervals. As students reach the 12th grade, they will take the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test (PSAT) and College Board Achievement Tests in English, social studies, and science, where appropriate.

To gain a more detailed picture of each student as an individual, Background and Experience Questionnaires will be administered, covering two crucial periods in educational development: from grade 7 when the student is about 12 years old to grade 9 when he first begins educational specialization, and from grade 11 when he begins making plans about specific colleges or jobs to the time of his high school graduation. The questionnaire will ask about various environmental influences, how he spends leisure time, how he feels about school subjects, and what goals he has set for himself. An analysis of these factors may provide clues regarding relationships between outside influences -- such as watching television -- and academic growth.

The 28 public high schools in the 20 cities participating in the study were selected to represent the four different geographical regions and seven different types of schools, varying in size and in proportion of students going to college.

Ineke Tempelman, Canyon's first foreign exchange student, has been very busy during her first five weeks in the United States.

Besides her school schedule, which includes English IV, American history, American government, Speech II and choir, Ineke has had her days filled with other activities, including football games, visits to points of interest in and around Canyon and becoming acquainted with her new friends.

Teachers and students alike find Ineke to be a very interesting and amiable person. She can often be found in a group animatedly discussing anything from her first American slumber party, which she recently attended, to drama and music in which she is deeply interested.

Ineke's sense of humor recently caused laughter throughout the entire high school. In a discussion with some of her classmates she was asked if she always wore wooden shoes in Holland. To this she replied, "Do you always sit on a horse?"

What was undoubtedly one of the biggest slumber parties in Canyon's history was held the night of Friday, September 22, and the morning of Saturday, September 23, in the home of Bonnie Jo Whittington.

Twenty-six girls attended the party which honored Bonnie Jo on her 17th birthday.

Those present were Ann Adair, Kay Allen, Barbara Banks, Karen Brewster, Marie Dowlen, Barbara Erwin, Linda Gazzaway, Phyllis Gerdson, Anne Guthrie, Pat Haley, Lois Harlan, Marion Henson, Kathy Hinger, Sue Huyck, Ineke Tempelman, Kay Jarnagin, Jane Jarrett, Cheryl McClure, Mary Beth Maxwell, Nancy Purcell, Judi Roberts, Lynda Troth, Ann Warwick, Vicki Weaver, Lee Ruth Wiggins and Virginia Crounse.

The guests showed their appreciation to Bonnie Jo by presenting her with a gift and by staying awake most of the night.

Although the Canyon High School Eagles lost to Phillips High School in last Friday night's football game, the school principal, J.E. Miller, high school cheerleaders and numerous other people expressed great satisfaction with the spirit shown by both the players and Canyon supporters.

Mr. Miller expressed his belief that the pep rally Friday afternoon had the greatest participation of any pep rally so far this year. Both he and the cheerleaders stated their hope that such enthusiasm would continue and grow as the year progresses.

CANYON BUSINESS REVIEW and BUYER'S GUIDE

This week the Canyon News visits "Doc" and Beth Thompson at Buffalo Tailor Shop, 2321 4th Avenue in Canyon.

The Thompsons came to Canyon in 1945 and enrolled at West Texas State College.

In 1951 the Thompsons bought the modern cleaners on the square and operated it until March, 1955. The following February they purchased the Buffalo Tailor Shop and have been there ever since.

Possibly, the main reason the Thompsons have done well in this type of business is because they love this kind of work. Mrs. Thompson stated that she "loves ever facet of this business" and she believes that clothes have a personality just like people. "Their are good ones and there are some not so good." This reporter couldn't help but be impressed by their enthusiasm after being in the Dry Cleaning Business for years. Mr. Thompson has been doing dry cleaning for a total of 22 years now.

Buffalo Tailors have a very complete line of equipment. "The very same cleaning system as a well nationally advertised process," I am told. Each garment is checked 7 to 8 times during cleaning--for spots, buttons, zippers, pockets, pressing and etc.

One of the more technical points we learned about this business is that there are 8 different synthetic materials the cleaners must learn to recognize, so that he can correctly determine what chemicals should be used. Also, that many cleaners are not able to take proper care of suede leathers as our own Buffalo Tailors can. This firm does most all kinds of alterations, they have a tailor and a dressmaker on duty at all times.

Thompson's business comes in from all over the Panhandle, Dumas, Dalhart, Hereford, and other towns--some of it is brought to Canyon by W.T. students who have told friends and family about the quality work and low prices found here!

Buffalo Tailors offer Free Pickup and Delivery--exclusive in Canyon. In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Iris Cassaway and Harry Kengle round out the crew--come by to see them, come by today!

Eagles Trounced 24-0 By Phillips Blackhawks

Canyon Eagles met defeat for the third time this season when they met the Phillips Blackhawks Friday evening there. The Phillips team came out ahead 24-0.

Scores came in the first and third quarters for the Blackhawks and the Eagles played defensive ball throughout the game.

Phillips' first score came when quarterback Dickieplungeed through the middle from the one-half-yard-line. He then tossed to Hunt for a two-point conversion.

In the same quarter Dickie made a toss from the 21 to Hunt who was waiting in the end zone. Stiller made the conversion on an end run.

Score at halftime was 16-0.

In the third quarter Hunt chalked up another tally for the Blackhawks on a five-yard plunge. Johnson, one of their halfbacks, swept around end for another two-point conversion.

This quarter went all to Phillips—they made 215 yards on the field.

Ronny Brock, junior guard for the Eagles, latched onto two Phillips' passes for outstanding runs but no score.

In the last second or two of the half he intercepted one and a made a 40-yard scamper back toward scoring territory. When the Phillips team nabbed him the gun at the half had already sounded.

In the fourth quarter Harry Lisle passed to Warren Ruthenford, a scoring play, but it was called back as both teams were off sides. On the next play Lisle took the ball on his own 34 and ran down to the Phillips eight, where he was knocked out of bounds.

Four plays later Canyon was only on the Phillips six-yard-line.

Phillips took the ball on their own six and 17 plays later were on the Canyon 10-yard line.

Brock again pulled in a Phillips aerial and made another 40-yard scamper. Canyon took over on the mid-field stripe with first and ten. But on the fourth down, Price tossed and Blackhawk Hunt intercepted.

Hunt ran the ball back 23 yards. Phillips made one more play before the game's final gun sounded.

Sugar Beet Outlook Bright

By H.A. Tuck
News Editor
The Hereford Brand
(Special for The Canyon News)
A 55-45 split on domestic and foreign sugar production for the United States is the key to a year-long battle centering around the Texas Panhandle.

Members of the Texas Sugar Beet Growers Association have waged a fight clear to the halls of Congress and into the White House in an effort to gain sufficient acreage to warrant building one or more beet sugar refineries.

And the tide of battle turned abruptly early in September with the adoption of a small resolution by the House Agriculture Committee.

Only a few words in length, the resolution promises that the Sugar Act will be amended early in 1962 to allow a sharp increase in production of sugar beets and construction of refineries in new growing areas, principal of which is in this region.

For many years, the Sugar Act was a little-known factor in Washington. It outlined the sources of sugar for the United States and allocated quotas for both domestic and imported sugar. Never questioned, the Sugar Act was extended for five-year periods without discussion or debate.

More than a year ago, the Texas Sugar Beet Growers Association challenged the allocation of sugar quotas for foreign countries, claiming that both sugar supplies and the position of domestic farmers could be strengthened by raising more sugar in the United States.

This was laughed off in Washington, where many government officials felt that international friendships hinged on continued imports of sugar.

Then came the revolution and Fidel Castro's rise to power in Cuba, major foreign source of sugar for the United States. Congress hurriedly gave the President power to cut off Cuba's sugar imports. But Cuba supplied almost 45 per cent of America's sugar!

Quickly the Texans moved to take advantage of the situation. Imagine their surprise when they found that the State Department intended to allocate Cuba's quota to other countries without increasing domestic sugar production. The Department of Agriculture, however, threw a tiny bone in an effort to still the clamor from Texas.

They removed acreage controls from sugar. This, in effect, meant nothing since the USDA still told each American sugar company how much sugar it could market each year.

Stubbornly, the Texans tried signed an amendment to the Sugar Act which would have been a start. Under the original Sugar Act, the "growth factor" increase in demand for sugar was allocated only to old growers in established areas.

The "growth factor" is the natural increase in demand for sugar because of increased consumption and population. Part of it was absorbed by old growers, the rest went to increased imports from other countries.

The amendment would have divided the annual increase among new growers in small, established new areas, new growers in old areas, old growers in reclamation areas.

In this plan, the Texas Panhandle would have been classed as a small, established area. It takes about 20,000 acres of beets to provide sufficient tonnage for the operation of a sugar refinery.

Sugar beets have been raised continuously in the Panhandle since 1939, but only on about 1,900 acres. Despite outstanding production records, both on tonnage and sugar content, this acreage has remained stable. Only six counties--Castro, Deaf Smith, Hale, Lubbock, Parmer, and Randall--in the state have any beet acreage.

Although this amendment wasn't adopted, Congress finally agreed to a short extension of the Sugar Act last summer before adjournment. The promises to amend the Sugar Act when Congress returned in January again fell through and the Act was extended for a year, until June 1962.

Primarily through the efforts of the Texas Sugar Beet Growers Association and Congressman Walter Rogers of Pampa, the adamant stand of key members of the House Agriculture Committee was changed.

First indication came in August during a meeting on sugar beets held by the USDA in Denver, Colo. Congressman Bob Poage of Waco, assistant chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, attended as a spectator but was called upon to make a short talk.

Poage told the groups that he strongly favored increased domestic production and would work to get the Sugar Act changed.

On September 7, the House Agriculture Committee passed the following: "RESOLVED that it is the sense of the Agricultural Committee of the House of Representatives that in allocating the sugar tonnage necessary to supply the domestic 'growth factor' the Secretary of Agriculture should make allocations to new mills so that this new tonnage can support the development of the sugar industry in new areas."

What would this mean to the Texas Panhandle? First, acreage will be increased, probably over a period of two or three years, from the present 1,900 acres to about 20,000. Second, a sugar refinery probably would be built in the area. Third, cattle feeding should jump sharply with the availability of beet pulp as a basic feeder item.

Four Hereford men have been instrumental in getting the change in attitude. Lee Benefield is president of the Texas Sugar Beet Growers Association. James W. Witherspoon, an attorney, was named head of the Association's legislative committee. Joining them was banker Henry Sears and beet grower Hank Williams.

Together and separately, they made countless trips to Washington. They also helped organize county sugar beet growers associations all over the Panhandle and South Plains. Among these groups is the Randall County Sugar Beets Growers Association. Hosea Foster is president of this group.

If the Sugar Act is changed to give more production to this area, it could mean a tremendous boost to the economy. Not only would it retire from production some wheat and grain sorghum land, but it would provide a stable income for many farmers.

Disease and insect problems on sugar beets have been whiped. With the exception of about two weeks, the plants are not subject to weather damage. The price remains stable. Hand labor has been almost eliminated with development of machines to do planting, thinning and harvesting.

As one Hereford sugar beet raiser put it, "I haven't had any trouble with my banker since I have been growing sugar beets!"

At present, Texas beet growers have to ship their beets to Colorado for processing. With enough production in this area to support a refinery, they wouldn't have to pay freight rates that cut into their profits. They also would get first option on the beet pulp, which is recognized for its cattle-feeding value.

A refinery is a high investment, and also a rare one. It is estimated that a refinery would cost about $15,000,000 and would take three years to build. During peak periods of operation it would employ up to 350 people, with a constant employment of around 75-100 persons.

Last one built in the United States was in 1954, and the next newest was erected in 1948. But they are long-lasting: the plant built in 1870 at Alvarado, Calif., is still in operation after having been rebuilt in 1936. There are only 62 refineries in the United States, of which 57 were built prior to 1940.

And a series of tests now being conducted in Hereford add another bright note to the prospects for increased sugar production in this area.

The tests are being made on several varieties of sugar sorghum to determine the amount of sugar which might be extracted. The varieties, unlike most sorghum, are high in sucrose which can be refined into pure sugar rather than syrup.

Tonnage yields are running above 19 tons per acre and the sugar content is more than 14 per cent, far higher than the minimum necessary for commercial sugar operations.

And with a small change in one phase of refining, the sorghum could be processed in sugar beet mills. By earlier planting, the sorghum could be refined for 60 to 90 days before the start of beet harvest.

Yes, the outlook for the Texas Panhandle is sweet, indeed!
